

Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law has worked so well for us as Indiana residents. Our phone rings so much less than it used to, and now I am much more willing to pick up the phone because I expect that this is someone who needs to reach me, rather than it being a telemarketer or other phone solicitation. It would be most frustrating to have our protection lessened by a federal law which overrides the Indiana law. Please leave the Indiana law alone; it is working well!!!! Other states would do well to adopt the same!
